Doctor Profile

Gastroenterology & Hepatology

Dr Ann Farrell

MBBS, FRACP

Dr Ann Farrell is a Gastroenterologist and Hepatologist who combines private practice with public appointments at St Vincent's Hospital Melbourne and Eastern Health where she works in the general gastroenterology, endoscopy and liver disease services. Ann is an expert in liver diseases, and as a clinician-researcher is completing her PhD through the University of Melbourne in the epidemiology and management of metabolic associated steatotic (fatty) liver disease. In addition to this, she has subspecialty interests in the medical management of obesity and viral hepatitis.

Ann's broad range of interests allow her to provide patient-centred care for all gastrointestinal complaints, ensuring that every patient receives personalized attention and treatment plans tailored to their specific needs. Ann prides herself on performing quality endoscopy, undergoing regular auditing and recertification through GESA, and is happy to accommodate urgent referrals, as well as direct access endoscopy.
